Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I have been reading over the proposed settlement documentation concerning the Microsoft anti-trust case. There are still FAR TOO MANY LOOPHOLES for Microsoft to continue business as usual. THIS SETTLEMENT MUST BE REWORKED or Microsoft will simply be able to continue in its activities. There are licensing agreements for one, scream monopoly. You can't seriously let them continue to tell end users what other software types are not allowed to be used in conjunction with Microsoft software. There are licenses written by Microsoft that prohibit use and distribution of their software with any other type of software based solely on license alone. There is NO GOOD REASON for denying an entire license to an end user.
